

THE 10 PRINCIPLES OF SUCCESS

A Burning Desire:

Without purpose backed by passion (a burning desire) underachievement and unfulfillment are virtually assured. You must have that burning desire to (get a job, to learn, to do what needs to be done, etc.) in order to succeed in what you are doing.

Faith:

Dreamers are those who, not only dream, but have faith that their dreams can come true. Barack Obama believed that he could be the first African American President of the United States and he is. It is belief that you can do something tomorrow that can not be done today.

Responsibility:

Are you prepared to take responsibility for your future? Many people are not willing to work hard and take responsibility for their own lives, but in order to succeed, you have to take responsibility for yours! A job is not going to come to you, you must take the responsibility to pursue the job you desire.

A Positive Attitude:

Success comes from an attitude of gratitude. Be able to make the best of any situation, no matter how horrible it may seem. Lance Armstrong, after being diagnosed with cancer said, "Cancer picked the wrong body to mess with," his attitude directly affected his ability to fight the cancer.

Discipline:

Discipline is the bridge between where you are and where you want to go. Discipline is spending significant time on tasks that will result in significant achievement. Discipline is doing what you don't want to do, to get the results you want to achieve.

Sphere of Influence:

The quality of life is often times determined by the people (or things) you avoid. Your quality of life is determined by the people who you associate with and by the books you read. Surround yourself with good people and good books.

Embrace Adversity:

Adversity is part of life, deal with it.

"It doesn't matter who you are or where you come from. The ability to triumph begins with you."-Oprah

"We are all faced with brick walls, the reason those brick walls are there is to keep those who don't want it bad enough out," Randy Pasch from "The Last Lecture."

Health and Fitness:

Energy is important, without good physical and mental health, you don't have the energy to succeed. Take care of you!

Master Your Fears:

Fear is the greatest inhibitor to the success of anyone in anything.

Acknowledge and conquer your fears.

Fears do not go away, it's how you manage your fears that changes.

You must figure out your own way to master your own fears.

Take "MASSIVE" Action:

If you don't take action, you never have the ability to achieve the results you desire.

Get going and do everything you can to achieve your burning desire.
